"Can you love God or your neighbor when you are lacking a self?"

"The most important one," answered Jesus, "is this: 'Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God, the Lord is one. Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind and with all your strength. The second is this: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' There is no commandment greater than these." Mark 12:29-31

God's commandments were given to help us live the fullest lives possible by living fully according to the way we were designed. In Mark 12, a teacher of the law asked Jesus what the most important commandment was, and Jesus replied with the verses above. If keeping God's commands is what gives fullness of life, it would seem the best way to live life fully is to be intentional about keeping the most important commandments.

During my sabbatical, I focused on five aspects of living life the way it was designed to be lived:

1. Unity with other Christians
2. Living lives of love and service to others in the Community
3. Being present to (loving and being a good steward of) oneself
4. Being present to God
5. Being present to our neighbor

How fully we do these five things will directly affect how much we live according to the way we were designed and, consequently, experience fullness of life.

As we look at these "most important" commandments, they come down to:

1. Loving God
2. Loving Neighbor
3. Loving Self

Leaving any of these ingredients out of the recipe for life will sacrifice the quality of the final product.

We love God by giving him all of us – heart, soul, mind, strength. If our heart is sick, our soul is broken, our mind is compromised or our strength is diminished, we can't fully love God or our neighbor. That is why it is important to love ourselves so we have the capacity to love both God and our neighbor.

To be present to God and to our neighbor, we need to be present to ourselves. For many of us, we may intend to love God and our neighbor, but we are so empty and broken ourselves that we are not very good at doing either.

Part of the upcoming sermon series will be to move beyond the normal Christian focus on being more intentional in serving God and others to looking at how that can only happen well when we are healthy ourselves.

All these things affect how well I can love God and others:

1. Being physically healthy so I have energy to love.
2. Being emotionally healthy so I have emotional bandwidth to love.
3. Seeking reconciliation so unforgiveness doesn't keep me from being able to love.
4. Not being too busy so I can be present to love.
5. Addressing addictions, so I will be able to connect and able to love.

If you are not experiencing fullness of life, do a diagnostic on how well you are doing at following the most important commandments. Is the problem that you are not loving God? That you are not loving your neighbor? Or could it be that the biggest barrier is that you have not been very good at loving yourself?

Wednesday Dinner and Bible study – 6:30-8:00pm

Join us for great food and fellowship, prayer and an insightful study entitled “Listening to God.”

Next Steps Meeting after worship on October 6

Come and join as we evaluate where we are as a congregation, discern where God is leading us to go from here and talk about what next steps need to be taken to move in that direction.

Sunday Sermon Series and 40-day Devotional based on Pastor Mark’s Sabbatical Themes begins October 13

On Sunday, October 13 we will begin a journey through Pastor Mark’s sabbatical themes. That journey will include 2 parts – Sunday sermons and 40 days of daily devotions.

Sermon Themes:

Sunday, October 13 – “Experiencing Jesus through Unity with other Christians”

Sunday, October 20 – “Experiencing Jesus by loving and serving our neighbors”

Sunday, October 27 – “Being Fully Present to Yourself”

Sunday, November 3 – “Being Fully Present to God”

Sunday, November 10 – “Being Fully Present to the Neighbor”

40 Days of Devotions:

As part of his sabbatical, Pastor Mark put together a 40-day devotional book based on the five above themes. We will be doing this daily devotional as a congregation from October 13 to November 21. The books will be available at church for $7.00, and Pastor Mark will post them each day on the RLC Facebook page
